HD MANIFESTING GENERATOR with SACRAL AUTHORITY

You are a MANIFESTING GENERATOR with SACRAL Authority. You have a tremendous amount of energy that makes you potentially more powerful than a pure Generator. With all that energy, though, come challenges that necessitate following your Strategy and Authority to ensure you use it in the right way. If you do, you will experience the deep satisfaction and fulfillment that is your birthright.

You carry life’s most powerful motor within you: The Sacral Center, the most powerful source of life energy on the planet. You are here to use that energy to work and to love the work you do. When you’re living in the right way, you experience satisfaction and enjoy using up your full reserve of energy each day, awakening refreshed each morning. In addition, you have a defined Solar Plexus Center and possess Emotional Authority, meaning that for you the full range of emotional expression is your guide through life.

At the same time, you possess the most powerful motor with you – the Sacral Center, the source of life energy on this planet. You are here to use that energy to work and to love the work you do. When you’re living in the right way, you experience satisfaction and enjoy using up your full reserve of energy each day, awakening refreshed each morning. At the same time, you have a powerful motor center with access to the Throat Center, which is what creates your Manifesting potential. Because the Throat is the Center of expression and manifestation, your energy has the ability to move directly into the world, although in your case this can only happen in response. This potential for Manifesting – in response to what life brings you – is what separates you from a pure Generator.

Although you possess aspects of both a Manifestor and a Generator, make no mistake about it: you are a GENERATOR. Although you have a tremendous reservoir of energy inside you as a Generator, you do not have the consistent access to this energy that your mind thinks you do. The only way for your energy to emerge is to follow your Strategy of waiting to respond. It is only in responding that you know what you have the energy for, so it is essential for you to wait to respond to what life brings you before making decisions. If you are patient, your energy will be ignited by the things that are right for you; you will move naturally into action, enjoy the process of being engaged in work, and have the power to finish what you start. If you don’t wait to respond, however, you will continue to commit to things your Sacral doesn’t have the energy for. When this happens, you will meet resistance, experience frustration and be prone to quitting, and over time risk depleting your body’s energy by continuing to use it in ways that are not right for you.

Your body naturally possesses the intelligence to guide your life, and it does so by responding in simple guttural to what life brings you: ‘ah-hunh’ for yes, ‘un-unh’ for no, and ‘hmmmm’ for “I don’t know”. Like all Generators, you are naturally inclined from birth to make these sounds, but were taught to suppress them as you developed the ability to use language. In the process you began to rely on the mind with all its complexity rather than the simplicity of the body. The result is that your mind commits to all kinds of things your body does not have the energy for, resulting in frustration.
For a Sacral Generator, the Sacral is the only source of reliable decisions. Your truth is in your sounds; your responses tell you exactly what is right for you. Because your Sacral is rooted in the body, its sounds reveal what is true and right for you in a way your mind simply can’t. This is the gift of awakening as a Generator – to be guided through life by the body’s wisdom. As long as you are guided by your Sacral, you have no need to think to make decisions.

For a Manifesting Generator, the Sacral is the only source of reliable decisions. Your truth is literally in your sounds; your responses tell you exactly what is right for you. Because your Sacral is rooted in the body, its sounds reveal what is true and right for you in a way that your mind simply can’t. This is the gift of awakening as a Generator – to be guided through life by the body’s wisdom. As long as you are guided by your Sacral, you do not need your mind to make decisions.

As a Manifesting Generator, waiting to respond is particularly difficult for you. No one is in more of a hurry, as your Manifesting potential wants to leap into action and initiate. This tendency can lead to your being more impatient and aggressive than a pure Generator. If you do not follow your Strategy, though, you are certain to encounter resistance. When you do, you are likely to use your energy to push even harder to try to achieve what you want to initiate. For you, the end result of not living correctly is to experience both the Generator’s frustration and the Manifestor’s anger; thus you face a double dose of resistance when you do attempt to initiate.

When you do follow your Strategy and Authority, though, you are one of life’s most efficient beings. Once you respond to making a decision, your Manifesting capability is activated and you quickly find yourself engaged in the task at hand. Because of your capacity for Manifesting, after you have responded to doing something, you don’t need to go through it step by step, but can skip over steps that are not essential. Used in the right way, your energy is like a finely tuned sports car that can go from 0 to 60 in the blink of an eye.

However, Manifesting Generators can be in such a hurry to get things done that they confuse what is essential with what can be skipped. When they do, they have to go back and work on the important things they missed, which can be very frustrating. So long as the task was correct for them in the first place, they will return and complete what they missed. If they did not wait out their emotional wave before acting, thought, they are likely to quit at this point. This is why the best thing as a Manifesting Generator is to slow down whenever possible; take your time and wait to respond before committing your energy to anything. Making lists of the different steps of a task or of different tasks to complete prior to beginning them can also be very helpful for keeping you on track.

Having a motor connected to your Throat Center can result in your being in such a hurry that you even skip over making Sacral sounds. Here, too, it is imperative to slow down and begin to experiment with responding. It can take more practice and patience for a Manifesting Generator to feel comfortable responding in sounds, simply because you have been in a hurry all your life. However, nothing is more important than awakening the Sacral response within you, as this is how your body’s wisdom to what is correct in life.
As a Generator, you are the only type that possesses an open, enveloping aura that draws life to it. Because your aura takes in all of life, you will be given tremendous opportunity to respond if you are willing to follow your Strategy. That is why you have no need to initiate; when you wait to respond, the right things in life will find you, rather than you need to go out and find them. This way, you will have the chance to experience your true efficiency for getting things done. That doesn’t mean that waiting will be easy; in fact, there is no one for whom it is more difficult. It simply means that waiting to respond is the only way to fully experience the great power and speed you carry within you as a Manifesting Generator.